The Frayman Group Delivers Data Integrity Risk Protection for Document and Records Management Systems

CompliGuard SecureAccess Provides API-Based Integration to Open Text LegalKEY, Open Text eDOCS and Interwoven Worksite, Delivers Significant Cost Savings & Risk Management Benefits

New York– (March 17, 2009) – The Frayman Group, a leading provider of risk management software and services for law firms, today announced the availability of CompliGuard SecureAccess, a new offering that features a web services-based API layer designed to provide safe integration to Open Text LegalKEY, Open Text eDOCS and Interwoven Worksite implementations at law firms.

Integrating document and records management implementations with other key systems is a critical business requirement for every law firm. Leveraging CompliGuard SecureAccess, firms will be able to integrate their new business inception process with their document and records management repositories leveraging documented APIs, enabling them to implement security functionality including ethical walls and information barriers and engagement letter management. This consistent, API-driven approach eliminates the need to access the database tables of these mission-critical applications directly, a costly method of integration that introduces risk to data integrity.

“CompliGuard SecureAccess is one of the first deliverables of our collaborative work with The Frayman Group following our partnership agreement that was announced in November 2008,” said Mohit Thawani, Director of Legal Solutions at Open Text Corporation. “The deep expertise The Frayman Group has in law firm practices is already producing rewards for our joint customers.”

CompliGuard SecureAccess not only allows firms to build integrations much faster, it also guarantees the longevity of these integrations as the APIs are supported across the versions of LegalKEY, eDOCS and Worksite, significantly reducing the complexity and cost associated with upgrades and maintenance, lowering the cost of ownership for law firms by eliminating the need for costly professional services work.

“Consistent, secure integration from new business inception to document and records management systems has been a significant challenge for law firms,” said Yuri Frayman, CEO of The Frayman Group. “With CompliGuard SecureAccess, we are offering firms a safe and secure alternative that promises significant cost savings and ensures data integrity. “

CompliGuard SecureAccess is the only solution in the market that provides API-based integration to Open Text’s LegalKEY Practice Management Suite. It extends and replaces the LegalKEY Core Services offering from Open Text. Customers who have licensed LegalKEY Core Services from Open Text will be eligible for a free-of-charge upgrade to CompliGuard SecureAccess.

Availability: CompliGuard SecureAccess is available now.
